

The Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) has chosen to challenge Indiana's Telephone Privacy law in a proceeding before the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

The CBA is attempting to impose the federal "established business relationship" exemption on Indiana consumers.

If successful, anybody that you currently have a business relationship with (e.g., your bank, credit card company, long distance carrier) will be able to call you as often as they want. Over an eighteen month period, that could translate to over 800,000,000 more unwanted phone calls to Indiana residents.

I live with my 89 year old Aunt, and we are on the states No call list and want to make sure the laws are not softened. I do not want her called any more than she is, as just getting her to get up and cross the room to answer the phone could be detrimental to her health. As it is now, she has to get up 3-5 times a day to get the phone, but before the No call list it was more like 10 times a day. I need to keep her as safe as possible, and limiting the solicits calls would help. Please do not let these calls be increased.

The Attorney General is fighting this battle with every legal resource available.

Please help him win this fight!